“I believe that the key to client satisfaction is responsiveness, competence, and friendliness. My priority is to excel at customer service and always go the extra mile.”

Heidi Reynolds is an integral member of Miller Nash’s condemnation/ eminent domain team and provides support to the firm’s general litigators. She is extremely knowledgeable regarding court procedures, technology, and trial preparation, and as well as an adept problem-solver. She brings this knowledge and extensive experience to bear in supporting the condemnation team as they advise and represent municipal agencies and property owners in substantive and procedural eminent domain matters. Heidi employs a positive, can-do attitude and is proficient at anticipating the needs and exceeding the expectations of clients, experts, and her colleagues. Heidi has supported the team in several successful eminent domain trials in western Washington.
