“Clients know that I make myself available to assist them whenever a new issue or question arises. Maintaining an open line of communication is key to developing positive, long-term relationships with clients.”

Justin Hebenstreit is a member of the firm’s financial services department, advising banks, credit unions, and other financial institutions. Justin has experience providing securities law advice and compliance guidance to business development companies, public companies, registered investment companies, investment advisers, real estate investment trusts, and their independent directors with a focus on regulation and issues arising under the Investment Company Act of 1940, the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, the Securities Act of 1933, and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Justin also has significant experience preparing registration statements, annual reports, proxy statements, and other regulatory filings, drafting legal opinions and memoranda, and preparing and negotiating agreements. Justin previously practiced in the New York office of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP where he represented multinational investment management corporations, public and private companies, and other financial institutions.
