“My favorite projects involve doing what others say is impossible. I use close collaboration with our clients, a deep knowledge of their industries, and a focus on their end goal to help develop and implement creative, real-world solutions to difficult problems.”

William L. Rasmussen practices Oregon administrative law with concentrations in land use, real estate, and cannabis matters. He represents entities, businesses, and individuals in complex regulatory and transactional matters.

Will is skilled at guiding complex projects to completion by understanding the interplay between federal, state, and local laws and politics. Will has extensive experience in managing applications to change state and local laws, as well as successfully obtaining approval to develop large or complex parcels. Will has obtained countless approvals for development in the Portland metro area, along the Oregon coast, and in many other Oregon cities and counties. He has successfully defended a wide variety of approvals at the Oregon Land Use Board of Appeals.

In conjunction with his land use practice, Will has developed extensive experience in many areas of administrative law. He has represented clients in a diversity of permitting, enforcement, and appeal matters before City of Portland bureaus and offices, including the Bureau of Development Services, Bureau of Environmental Service, Bureau of Planning and Sustainability, Bureau of Revenue, Bureau of Transportation, Housing Bureau, Water Bureau, Hearings Office, Revenue Office, and City Council.

Will also counsels leading cannabis retail, production, lab, and processing companies, advising them on transactional, regulatory, and enforcement matters. He works with clients, business groups, and Oregon policy-makers to develop state and local policy that is friendly to fast-growing cannabis businesses.

Will approaches his clients’ projects with a goal-oriented approach that he developed during his time in the business sector. Prior to his law career, Will was an adviser with UBS. He also interned with U.S. Senator Ron Wyden and remains involved with civic affairs in Oregon through the Portland Business Alliance, Oregon Business & Industry, and Oregon State Bar. He has been selected by his
