“To truly help a client achieve success, you need to understand their business. I feel successful when a client is able to complete a transaction in a timely manner, without any undue headaches or stress, and at a total cost that the client feels is both reasonable and fair.”

Robert Koury chairs the firm’s real estate department, serving real estate users, owners, and developers throughout the Pacific Northwest. Robert represents commercial, retail, industrial, and residential developers and owners from a variety of industries, including public entities, manufacturing, technology, and education. He guides clients through the leasing, acquisition, permitting, development, and sale of all types of real property. Robert often assists clients with real estate-based financing, refinancing, and restructuring of transactions in their development and redevelopment projects. Robert has extensive experience in all types of real estate matters, and he also counsels clients with general business and corporate matters related to the operation of their businesses.

Robert has been involved in the real estate world for much of his life. Growing up, he frequently “played landlord,” helping his father manage various properties. As a student, he worked as a clerk for a large title insurance company, acquainting himself with the various documents and procedures surrounding real estate transactions. Robert’s life-long passion for real estate is instrumental in achieving his reputation as one of Oregon’s leading real estate attorneys.
