

James F. Johnson

 Associate

☎ 206.777.7450 📍 Seattle Office
✉ james.johnson@millernash.com
🐦 @millernashllp

“I take my job as an advocate seriously. When working with clients, I develop collaborative and trusting relationships in order to reach their goals in an efficient, cost effective, and practical manner. As an attorney, I believe it’s important to help clients navigate the legal process and ease their concerns.”

James Johnson joined Miller Nash in December of 2022, focusing his practice on complex commercial litigation. With extensive experience guiding clients through matters in state and federal courts, he has performed wide-ranging legal research, drafted motions and appeals, and deposed numerous expert witnesses. James is skilled at addressing client needs in advance of litigation and counseling clients with strategies to avoid risk. He has a proven track record of obtaining favorable outcomes through settlement, arbitration, trial, and appeal.

Prior to joining private practice, James served as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney at the King County Prosecuting Attorney’s Office. In this role, he conducted 30 trials and appeared in court on a weekly basis. Additionally, James worked in the Seattle City Attorney’s Office as a Policy Aide and Municipal Court Extern.

Professional Activities

- Loren Miller Bar Association
 - President, 2020 – 2021
 - Member, 2009 – present
- Washington Leadership Institute, Graduate 2020/2021

Civic Activities

- Amara, Board Member, 2021 – present

Recognition & Honors

- Selected for inclusion as a Washington Super Lawyers, Rising Star, 2021-present

Education

J.D., Seattle University
School of Law, 2012

- President, Black Law Students Association, 2010 – 2011
- Black Law Students Association Leadership Award Recipient, 2012
- Student Body Association, Budget Committee Member, 2011 – 2012

B.A., University of Washington, Sociology, 2007

Bar Admissions

Washington, 2013