“As an experienced business attorney, I am committed to delivering strategic solutions and resolute advocacy to clients. To achieve successful outcomes, I aim to provide cost-effective, creative, and practical legal solutions tailored to each client’s unique needs.”

As an Oregon native, John Clarke brings significant value, commitment, and experience to the work that he performs for businesses, public institutions, and individuals. As an attorney in the firm’s litigation team, he focuses on business, financial services, class action, securities, intellectual property, and corporate governance disputes, representing clients in a wide variety of high-stakes disputes in state and federal courts and arbitration proceedings. John provides personalized attention and guidance throughout the litigation process, ensuring that clients are well-informed and empowered to make sound decisions.

As the cochair of the firm’s pro bono committee, John brings unwavering dedication and commitment to advancing access to justice for underserved communities in Oregon. With an exceptional record as a litigation attorney, John embraces the core values of social responsibility and strives to make a lasting impact through pro bono service. John plays a pivotal role in identifying and spearheading pro bono initiatives that address critical legal needs to individuals and organizations. His leadership empowers the firm to engage in meaningful pro bono work, championing the firm’s long history as a socially conscious and compassionate legal advocate.

John is an effective written and oral advocate for clients. He is adept at telling a client’s story and maintaining the highest level of professionalism to maximize favorable outcomes. John has made winning arguments and achieved successful outcomes in several matters, including:

- Prevailing in a state court jury trial arising from an alleged breach of contract and breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing;
- Prevailing on a motion for summary judgment in a federal lawsuit asserting claims for fraud against a publicly traded company;
- Prevailing a motion to dismiss in a state court lawsuit asserting consumer protection claims against a financial service institution;
