“I approach my work with a team-oriented and holistic perspective. Remembering that my clients usually have clients of their own allows me to deliver better results for everyone involved in a project.”

Craig Chamberlain assists lenders in a variety of financing transactions, from multi-lender, multi-property affordable housing transactions to single-lender, unsecured loans. His role includes drafting and negotiating debt and security documents, analyzing title reports and land surveys, and reviewing diligence documents. He also represents lenders in syndicated credit facilities.

Craig’s experience further includes drafting and negotiating purchase agreements, commercial and residential leases, ownership-transfer documents, and consulting agreements, as well as preparing business-formation and governance documents.

In each project, Craig ensures that he understands his client’s goals so that he can better advocate for the client’s interests. And when providing advice, he always aims to balance legal considerations with practical considerations.
