“Honest, accountable, knowledgeable, and genuinely concerned for my clients’ success, I build relationships with my clients based on trust, reliability, and an understanding of the clients’ needs to provide the best legal service possible.”

For nearly 15 years, Jacob Zahniser has represented owners, contractors, subcontractors, material suppliers and design professionals in connection with public and private projects involving schools, infrastructure, industrial, commercial, and residential projects. Jacob’s practice focuses on two areas: construction law and litigation and commercial landlord/tenant disputes. Jacob advises clients on any number of issues that arise during a construction project, from drafting the construction contract, through project close-out, payment, and defect claims.

Jacob frequently advises clients on claim prosecution and avoidance, including change orders, delay/acceleration claims, liens, and liquidated damages. Jacob has considerable experience prosecuting and defending multi-million dollar extra work, delay/acceleration, design defect, differing site conditions, disruption and workmanship claims in state and federal courts and arbitrations.

Construction Law and Litigation

Jacob uses his experience representing owners, contractors, subcontractors, designers, and material suppliers in a wide range of risk management counseling and construction disputes. On behalf of his clients, Jacob effectively and efficiently negotiates construction agreements for a variety of applications ranging from single-family home construction to master agreements covering public and private projects. Jacob is deeply knowledgeable and experienced with handling construction defect claims, delay/acceleration claims, and lien disputes in Oregon and Washington. He is well-versed in working with today’s construction professionals throughout the claim process and in identifying the key issues at the first opportunity to drive to resolution as quickly as possible.

Commercial Landlord/Tenant Disputes

Jacob co-authored Chapter 35 of the Oregon State Bar’s 2015 Real Estate Deskbook entitled “Commercial Lease Disputes and Remedies.” He uses his superior knowledge of commercial landlord/tenant law to negotiate prompt
