“I approach client service by first seeking to understand what matters most to each client—their values, priorities, and long-term goals. Focusing on the client’s ‘why’ allows me to provide thoughtful and business-minded legal advice that aligns each transaction with the larger vision the client is working to build.”

Anela Summers is a transactional real estate attorney who advises clients on complex property matters across the Pacific Northwest. Her practice focuses on guiding projects from initial planning through completion, with an emphasis on practical, detail-driven counsel that helps clients move deals forward efficiently while supporting long-term community and economic development goals. Anela’s real estate experience includes representing clients in acquisitions and dispositions, commercial leasing, development and infrastructure projects, and real estate finance. She regularly manages due diligence and escrow closings and drafts and negotiates easements, construction agreements, and other real property documents. Her work includes development projects located in Indian country, where she brings a strong understanding of regulatory considerations and stakeholder coordination.

In addition to her real estate practice, Anela advises Tribal governments and tribal economic development entities on a wide range of economic development initiatives that promote tribal sovereignty and growth. Her experience includes retail and regulatory matters involving liquor and cannabis, Tribal-State tax compact negotiations, and Indian gaming projects. She also represents clients in the sports, entertainment, and hospitality industries, drawing on in-house experience with an entertainment venue, a professional sports franchise, and a tribal hotel and casino. In these roles, she has drafted and negotiated a broad array of agreements and assisted with the development of standard contract forms and internal policies.

Anela joined Miller Nash in 2021 as a 1L Diversity Fellow and continued clerking with the firm throughout law school before joining full-time in 2023. During law school, she served as a judicial extern to Justice Raquel Montoya-Lewis of the Washington State Supreme Court and volunteered with the Rural Alaska Tax Assistance Program, helping Alaska Native taxpayers secure more than $1 million
