Miller Nash's education law team supports all types of educational institutions in navigating the rapidly evolving legal landscape, offering forward-looking guidance and strategic solutions aligned with each client's mission and goals.

Educational institutions have a variety of nuanced, complex, and often high-profile legal needs. Efficient resolution of these matters demands experienced and focused attorneys who consistently work with public and private educational institutions and who appreciate the need to thoughtfully evaluate how decisions and strategies intersect with each client's overall educational mission.

Experienced Education Law Counsel

Our comprehensive education law team has a long history of providing creative solutions for public and private institutions of higher education, public school districts, and private independent schools, in the Pacific Northwest and beyond. We are proud of our ability to anticipate and respond to the evolving legal service needs of our education clients. Our attorneys are passionate about education and stay current on legal issues that are important to our clients, with the goal of providing legal services in a strategic and cost-effective manner.
