"I prioritize fostering relationships with clients that are built on trust, collaboration, and clear communication. Through thoughtful, responsive counsel and practical guidance, I strive to maintain confidence while helping clients navigate complex legal challenges."

Loren Naldoza is an associate on the firm's litigation team, where he assists clients through the life of their case. Loren represents private and public clients in a variety of disputes including matters ranging from Oregon Securities Law, the Clean Water Act, and state breach-of-contract claims. Whether a matter requires extensive motions practice or support ahead of mediation, Loren approaches each case holistically to help clients achieve their goals and needs.

With a background in public policy, Loren has experience conducting in-depth policy research, analyzing legislative and regulatory developments, and drafting policy proposals, reports, and briefing materials. He excels at translating complex legal and policy issues into clear, actionable insights and helping clients navigate evolving policy landscapes and make informed decisions.

Before law school, Loren worked as a legislative aide to U.S. Senator Jeff Merkley in Washington, D.C. where he supported a policy portfolio of various topics including economic policy, financial institutions, securities regulation, and federal taxation. During law school, Loren served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Jacqueline S. Kamins at the Oregon Court of Appeals. Before joining Miller Nash, he worked as a law clerk for the Honorable Amy M. Baggio at the U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon.

Loren values public service. He considers protecting people whose constitutional rights are at risk a core part of his work. He continues his service to the public by devoting time to providing pro bono assistance to his community.
